REMEMBER there are hundreds of brands of White Lead (so called) on the market that are not White Lead, composed largely of Barytes and other cheap materials. But the number of brands of genuine is limited. The following brands are standard "Old Dutch" process, and just as good as they were when you or your father were boys:

Strictly Pure White Lead

"Atlantic," "Jewett," "Brooklyn."

FOR COLORS.—National Lead Co.'s Pure White Lead Tinting Colors, a one-pound can to a 25-pound keg of Lead and mix your own paints. Saves time and annoyance in matching shades, and insures the best paint that it is possible to put on wood.

Send us a postal card and get our book on paints and color-card, free; it will probably save you a good many dollars.

THE SUMMER SCHOOLS

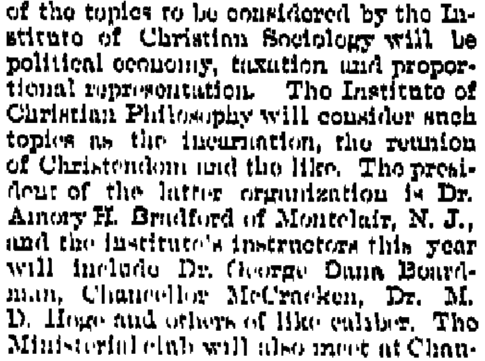
THEY WILL BE MORE NUMEROUS THIS YEAR THAN EVER BEFORE.

Chautauqua's and the University Extension Courses Broadest and Most Comprehensive—There Are Many Others, However, That Are Not Far Behind.

One thing is reasonably certain. If the American people are not already a knowing lot, they have determined to remedy the defect just as soon as ever they may. It doesn't matter at all nowadays if your mental training was neglected when you were of school age. Just as soon as you are able, by devotion to some sort of money getting occupation, to devote a few weeks and a few dollars to the operation, you can go away somewhere in the summer, by the side of lake or sea, in the mountains or under the shade of the forest, "take up" whatever subject you desire and study it, under really competent direction, to your heart's desire. It is all really very wonderful, and it grows more so every year, for each season the number and efficiency of summer schools are increased. It seemed last year as if the limit was about reached, but this summer, notwithstanding the fact that times have been hard and money tight, the number of schools is larger than ever, their schedules of study broader, and the attendance, it is expected, will be more numerous by thousands. Let us look into this matter a little.

GEORGE E. VINCENT.
[Assistant chancellor Chautauqua system.]

Chautauqua comes in for the first notice, of course, for although the claim that its summer school bears the parental relation to all the other schools is scouted in certain quarters Chautauqua is the best known of all, and more persons go there in search of knowledge every summer than anywhere else. Well, the Chautauqua programme for the coming summer is positively bewildering. The American Institute of Christian Sociology, formed last year, will, after a session at Grinnell, Ia., lasting from June 27 to July 4, begin sessions at Chautauqua on July 6, continuing for 20 days. Professor Richard T. Ely, the president of the institute; Professor J. R. Commons, secretary, and Professor George D. Herron, organizer, assisted by Rev. B. Fay Mills, President George A. Gates, Rev. John P. Coyle, Professor Jesse Macy, Dr. William Howe Tolman of New York, Ballington Booth and others, will instruct those who attend. The American Institute of Christian Philosophy will begin its summer school at Chautauqua July 5 and continue one week. Some of the topics to be considered by the Institute of Christian Sociology will be political economy, taxation and proportional representation. The Institute of Christian Philosophy will consider such topics as the incarnation, the reunion of Christendom and the like. The president of the latter organization is Dr. Amory H. Bradford of Montclair, N. J., and the institute's instructors this year will include Dr. George Dana Boardman, Chancellor McCracken, Dr. M. D. Hoge and others of like caliber. The Ministerial club will also meet at Chautauqua during the first half of July under the direction of Bishop Vincent, the founder of Chautauqua, and he will have the help of Dr. J. M. Buckley, President Harper, Bishop Hurst and others well known for their ability and earnestness. Theodore Roosevelt will also speak there during July on "The Westward Progress of Civilization In the United States," Professor Richard G. Moulton on literary topics, H. S. Benton on Hawaii, Carroll D. Wright on industrial problems, and so on. The college proper, under President Harper, will begin its sessions with its multitudinous classes on July 5, closing Aug. 6, and the teachers' retreat, Walter L. Hervey, president of the New York Teachers' college, in charge, will also be held during July. All the regular classes will be continued. Besides, the usual number of pretty young women and comely, wholesome older ones will attend the Chautauqua assembly this year as formerly, and there will be the usual physical culture classes.



E. BENJAMIN ANDREWS.
[President Brown university and interested in the "extension" course.]

The American Society For the Extension of University Teaching will give remarkably varied courses of instruction in the buildings of the University of Pennsylvania beginning July 2 and closing July 28. The faculty of this summer school will be drawn from leading colleges both east and west, and this will impart truly national characteristics to the gatherings. Preliminary to the opening of the summer school proper Richard Watson Gilder, on the evening of June 28, will speak on "Lincoln as a Literary Man." The topics to be considered during the sessions that begin July 2 will be: 1. Literature, Science and Art. 2. Pedagogy. 3. Mathematics. 4. Music. 5. History and Civics. 6. Economics and Sociology. Among those who will instruct on the topics included under these heads are Miss Helen Blaylock, William Bayard Hale, William A. Hammond, W. P. Laird of the University of Pennsylvania, Professor J. M. Macfarlane, Edward Brooks, superintendent of the Philadelphia public schools; Professor Frank McMurry of the University of Illinois; A. E. Winship, editor of the Journal of Education; Dr. C. C. Schaefer of the Illinois state normal school, Edward Everett Hale, W. H. Mace of the Syracuse university, John Bach McMaster, the historian; Talcott Williams, of the Philadelphia Press, D. C. Munro of the University of Pennsylvania, Professor John B. Clark of Amherst, Professor Simon N. Patten of the University of Pennsylvania, Professor Arthur T. Hadley of Yale, President E. Benjamin Andrews, Professor J. W. Jenks of Cornell, Richmond Mayo-Smith of Columbia, Professor Edwin R. A. Seligman, also of Columbia; Professor Franklin H. Giddings and many others, the work of each to be devoted to a specialty in which he is peculiarly well versed. It does not need any words of commendation from me to impress upon the reader the fact that the managers of the university extension course have got together an excellent summer faculty and laid out a most alluring programme.

The Catholic Summer School of America, which was so successful last year and the year before, will be repeated this year at Plattsburg, on Lake Champlain. The sessions will begin on July 14. Rev. Thomas McMillan, C. S. P., is chairman of the board of studies, and Bishop Spaulding, Richard Malcolm Johnston, George Parsons Lathrop, Hon. W. C. Robinson and Dr. James Hall will be prominent members of the faculty. The school will last four weeks, and during the last of the four there will be a course of 24 lectures for the especial benefit of teachers.

The Plymouth School of Applied Ethics will begin July 12 under the direction of Professor Henry C. Adams of the University of Michigan and a faculty including many who will be members of the Philadelphia force of teachers and speakers.

REV. THOMAS M'MILLAN.
[Chairman board of studies, Catholic summer school.]

The famous Northfield (Mass.) schools for Bible study for young men and women will be held as usual under the direction of Dwight L. Moody. From June 22 to June 25 the young women will have the field, from June 30 to July 12 the young men, and from Aug. 1 to Aug. 13 the general conference of Christian workers will be in session. Dr. F. B. Meyer of London and Dr. A. J. Gordon of Boston will be among the speakers, and on July 1, when the new auditorium is to be opened, Senator Frye of Maine will deliver the oration.

Beginning July 13 and closing Aug. 7 the Lakeside encampment summer school will be held on the shores of Sandusky bay, Ohio, the general plan being similar to that of Chautauqua, Rev. T. B. Vincent of University Park, Colo., being superintendent of instruction.

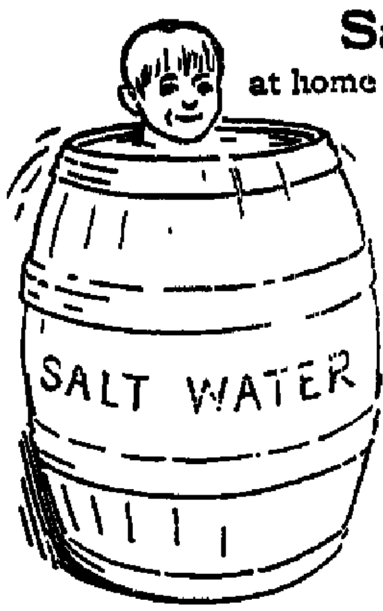
The Bay View (Mich.) summer university will open July 12 and the assembly a week later, both closing Aug. 15. John M. Hall of Flint, Mich., and President John M. Coulter of Lake Forest university are the leading spirits.

On the shore of Monona Lake, opposite Madison, Wis., the Monona Lake assembly will be held from July 24 to Aug. 3. A feature will be a series of lectures by H. H. Boyeson.

Dr. C. C. Milnor is president of the Ottawa (Kan.) Chautauqua assembly that will be in session from June 19 to June 29, and Dr. J. L. Hurlburt superintendent of instruction. Robert J. Burdette and Governor McKinley will be among the lecturers.

The Puget Sound Chautauqua will begin its school on July 3 and its assembly proper on July 25, to continue two weeks. John De Witt Miller and Rev. S. J. McPherson, D. D., of Chicago will be among the instructors.

The Colorado summer school of science, philosophy and sciences, in charge of President Slocum of Colorado university, will hold sessions in July, and there will also be summer schools at Martha's Vineyard, Glens Falls, N. Y., near Richmond and at Lexington, Mass. Besides summer courses of study will be afforded at Harvard, Cornell, the University of Michigan, Indiana university and the University of Virginia. The Massachusetts Institute of Technology will also hold its usual summer sessions. CHARLES APPLEBEE.



Salt Water Bathing—

at home or shore, for health and cleanliness, can be done perfectly with Pearline. The Pearline in such a bath gives you luxurious cleanliness. More, too. It's a decided help toward making the salt water do you good. You don't get all out of it that you can unless you assist it with Pearline.

Soap is out of the question in salt water bathing.

You can't use soap with salt water, any way.

Beware Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers will tell you, "this is as good as" or "the same as Pearline." IT'S FALSE—Pearline is never peddled, if your grocer sends you an imitation, be honest—send it back. 401 JAMES PYLE, New York.

"America's Greatest Men and Women."

AMERICA'S GREATEST MEN AND WOMEN.

AMERICA'S GREATEST MEN AND WOMEN.

MR. WILSON TALKS.

MY Name is Wilson; I do an insurance business on LaSalle street, in Chicago Ill., and I live in Evanston, Ill. Evanston is what was originally a scattering population on a pretty point on Lake Michigan, esteemed years ago far from the city of Chicago, but now one of the varied towns which may go within it by vote of the population.

I am married and have a wife and one child. That child is a boy (I suppose I should feel the same solicitude if it was a girl), and I have a father's natural fancies as to what must be the best thing to give that child the right kind of intelligence, and so divert his course that he may succeed in life. I have studied a great deal upon the subject. My own experience would not be of great value, because I have succeeded only to the limit of the average man and am barely established; still, I own the house and lot upon which I live, and am feeling perfectly safe in meeting the exigencies of the year. I want the boy to take a broader view than I did to be a bigger man in the world. I have studied how to teach him to do that, and he has done pretty well, as far as the preliminaries go. Now, I have thought over what I should say to him and have sometimes been puzzled. I could not very well tell him what to do. I wanted to tell him what I needed but what I did not learn myself when I was of his age, and what my father did not know how to tell me, or else was not thoughtful enough to do so. I wanted to tell him how to follow the example of those who have succeeded at the present time and under the circumstances which ordinarily affect a young man struggling in this Republic established on this comparatively new world to-day. I wanted to tell him just what he had better do to get along well, and to point out to him what had been done by the people who were successful at the present time.

Of course, the record of the people of any time past would not be of so much value, because circumstances must necessarily have been different when they were alive. I feel confident, though, that if I could learn, some way and somehow, what the people who are so successful to day have done and how they did it, I could give to my boy such advice as would make his own life at least as far removed from failure as justified by the natural ability he may possess.

I looked around for some authority which I might consult in order to give him the facts most essential with this idea of mine in mind, but I could find none until I discovered that a great publishing firm in Chicago had decided to bring out a book giving the photographs of all the people who are prominent in America to-day. Here was what I wanted. The book, as I have learned, is going to be published in 10 parts, 16 pages to each, with a recent photograph on each page of some active leading American man or woman of to-day, while underneath appears the story of that same person's life—the story telling what that person did, and how the ends attained were eventually accomplished. Here was what I wanted; here was what I needed in various ways; here was what I was certainly seeking in order to obtain the information with which to educate my boy and secure for him that knowledge which will give him a source of thought and make him prominent in the world.

I have the first sheets of this work. It is a graphic story of America's Greatest Men and Women, told in each instance on a single page underneath a photograph of recent date, which conveys to the eye an idea of what that person is. To me the photograph tells even more than the suggestive record beneath; and yet it is odd how in each instance the correct story corresponds with the expression upon the face which is reproduced in the portrait above. I do not know how the series will end. I know very little about this new feature of the newspaper people; I know nothing about the publishers and their expectations, but I do know this: that if the series so begun should be continued to its practical, ordinary good sense end—and I don't care whether that will include 200 or 700 of America's Greatest Men and Women, which is the title of the book—I do know this, that for the ordinary, active and alert business man—I will certainly say far more for the student or the literary man, or the politician or the statesman—for all these I will say it will be simply the most valuable and the most remarkable book produced in modern history. The wonder is that some one has not thought of it before. Yet no one seems to have done so since the days of Plutarch. Plutarch knew something. That shrewd old fellow knew that all who would get out of the drift, all who would accomplish great things, wanted to know every detail of the lives of those who had better luck or more courage or a broader brain than their fellows; but I am no authority on these points. I only know that there is produced a second Plutarch's Lives, that its biographies are shrewd, graphic and curt, and written without bias and without prejudice. I only know that there was a Plutarch—God bless the old fellow—and that there is this modern work.

This is the work I am going to give to my boy. I am going to make him read it thoroughly. The work is announced as consisting of 16 Parts, with 16 pages and 16 photographs in each part, and when bound, the whole series will make a great volume of 256 pages, the like of which has never been equaled. It is the story of the personal character of the men and women who are making the nation's history at this particular time. What a work this is! Do you imagine that I would miss it for my boy, or, incidentally, for myself?

REV. W. WILLIAMS.

Trinity Station, Morgan Co., Ala.

DR. R. V. PIERCE: Dear Sir—In the fall of last year I suffered from rheumatism in my left shoulder and elbow. I tried a great many remedies, recommended to me by friends, but they all failed to afford relief. From the time I began Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, until I felt that I was cured, was a period covering four or five months. While the attack lasted, I suffered a great deal, and could not dress or undress myself. Although I am 73 years old, I now regard my health as splendid. I had spent a great deal of money previously, in various kinds of medicine, but the "Discovery," from the day I commenced until I was well, cost only FOUR DOLLARS.

Accept my gratitude, and I beg to subscribe myself. Your friend,
REV. WILSON WILLIAMS.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 20, 1894.

The strike in the Trenton potteries, which began twenty-four weeks ago, is still in progress. It is estimated that the loss in wages has been close to $25,000 a week, or $600,000, while the loss to the capital invested makes the total cost of this struggle between labor and capital reach an enormous sum.

Gwynn R. Hancock, a grandson of Gen. Winfield S. Hancock, nominated at large to the West Point Military Academy by President Cleveland, was rejected by the medical examiners. He passed the mental examination but was five pounds under the required weight. He will ask Secretary of War Lamont to suspend the requirement as to weight in his case. Of the ninety-six candidates for admission to the Military Academy whose examinations were completed, yesterday, only forty-six passed.

The American Investment Company, of Emmettsburg, Ia., which was placed in the hands of a receiver, yesterday, seems to have got to the extreme end of its tether. It has liabilities of $3,285,000, and contingent liabilities of $3,000,000, and accrued interest on guaranteed loans, which are estimated to be worth only sixty per cent. of their face value. The assets are thought to be worth barely $1,800,000. The company's cash on hand, available for the payment of liabilities, is only $84 12.

AN ELECTRIC STORM IN NEWBURGH

Man's Imitations but Toys, When Nature's Electric Battery Gets to Work.

At noon, yesterday, a storm burst upon the city of Newburgh and Nature's own electricity gave an exhibition of how easily she could knock out man's imitation. The telegraph and telephone wires were ablaze with with the current and the receivers gave out sparks and flames and many of them were ruined.

The trolley wires were struck and grounded and almost instantly the cars came to a standstill wherever they happened to be and remained there for over an hour, until the storm was over and the line repaired. The motor that provides the power for the organ at Trinity M. E. Church was completely burned out and similar mishaps occurred all over the city.

THE ASYLUMS AT POUGHKEEPSIE.

The Hudson River Hospital Team Defeated in a Close Contest.

The Asylum Base Ball Club, accompanied by Dr. George Allen and Supervisor W. E. Cook, went to Poughkeepsie, yesterday, and won a a game of ball from the Hudson River Hospital team, by a score of 8 to 7. The score in the earlier portion of the game stood 6 to 0, in favor of Poughkeepsie, but the Asylums by steady up hill work caught and passed their opponents as above stated.

The team was royally entertained by the Poughkeepsians, and a return game will be played in this city, at an early date.

OBITUARY.

Rev. David Beattie.

Rev. David Beattie, pastor of the Scotchtown Presbyterian Church, who, as was briefly stated last evening, died at 2 30 o'clock yesterday morning, was born at St. Andrews, this county, on Dec. 27th, 1828, and was therefore in his sixty-sixth year. He was a son of William O. Beattie and Sarah Belknap. He was one of seven children who lived to grow to manhood and womanhood, but only three of these now survive. They are Dr. William F. C. Beattie, of Canterbury, Mrs. Mary Frances Sherwood, of Baltimore, and Mrs. Abigail Brown, of Yonkers. Rev. Robert H. Beattie, father of Rev. Dr. Charles Beattie, of this city, Asher Beattie and Sarah J. McBurney are dead.

Mr. Beattie graduated from Union College in 1848, and from Princeton Seminary in April, 1852, and on November 4th, of the same year, was ordained to the ministry and installed pastor of the Scotchtown Church, and remained its pastor until his death, a period of nearly forty-two years.

He was married to Isabella Cummings, of New York city, in 1853. Four children were born to them. One son, William, died during his course in Princeton. The surviving children are Rev. Thomas C. Beattie, of Albuquerque, N. M., Mrs. Alice, wife of Rev. James McWilliams, of Yonkers, and Isabel, wife of Rev. R. H. McCready, of Montgomery. His wife died in 1891 and on June 1st, 1893, he was married to Nancy J. Comfort, of Scotchtown, who survives him.

There are few ministers who can boast of so many years of continuous service in one church as could the Rev. Mr. Beattie, although there are two others in the Hudson River Presbytery, who have served longer than he—Rev. S. O. Hepburn, of Hamptonburgh, who has occupied the same pulpit forty-five years and Rev. Dr. Freeman, of Haverstraw, who has had a continuous service of forty-seven years.

It can be said of Mr. Beattie, however, that no pastor, no matter how long he may have served his church is more dearly beloved by his people than was he, or whose death will bring greater sorrow to the members of his church or congregation, for he was not only beloved by the members of his church but by all who have known him during his long residence at Scotchtown. He earned the love his people bore him by the faithful discharge of his duties as minister and pastor. He knew no distinction between rich and poor and no personal sacrifice was too great for him to make if he could help any one in his neighborhood by spiritual advice or consolation or material aid, and he earned the reward upon which he has entered, by faithful service of his Master. His death leaves a void that cannot be filled.

The funeral will be held at the Scotchtown Presbyterian Church, on Friday, at 1 o'clock. Relatives are requested to meet at his late residence at 12 30 p. m.

Working Women.

In a recent discussion on the working woman's need of protection Mrs. Charles Russell (Josephine Shaw) Lowell declared that the right of ballot would insure to woman that protection for her labor that is now the privilege of men; that the rewards for her labor would be equivalent to the labor performed only when she had attained the suffrage and protection through the ballot box.

A Grand Feature

Of Hood's Sarsaparilla is that while it purifies the blood and sends it coursing through the veins full of richness and health, it also imparts new life and vigor to every function of the body. Hence the expression so often heard: "Hood's Sarsaparilla made a new person of me." It overcomes that tired feeling so common now.

Hood's Pills are purely vegetable, perfectly harmless, always reliable and beneficial.

LIZZIE HALLIDAY'S TRIAL.

DISTRICT ATTORNEY HILL RESTS THE PEOPLE'S CASE

Many Witnesses Testify to Well Known Facts Connecting the Prisoner With the Murder—Prisoner Examined by Drs. Talcott and Allison—Important Evidence Offered To day—Lawyer Carpenter's Opening for the Defense—Insanity and Lack of Motive.

MONTICELLO, June 19.—The second day of Lizzie Halliday's trial resulted in bringing out much evidence connecting her with the three murders of which she is accused, but none of the evidence was new. It was merely a repetition of the stories told at at her examination before Justice Thayer, at Burlingham, and at the inquests before Coroner Roesch. That the woman committed the murders is not questioned, in fact it is practically admitted by the defense, but the District Attorney must bring the crime home to her. Real interest in the case will begin when the medical experts testify for and against the accused, for on this evidence will depend the fate of the woman stained with many crimes.

The court room was crowded, today, with men, women and children. Many of the spectators had come long distances to catch a sight of Lizzie Halliday and to listen to the ghastly recital of her crimes, but Monticello furnished the greater part of the crowd that filled the court room benches. One woman was overcome when the garments worn by the McQuillan's were displayed. The grief of Thomas McQuillan, who broke down while testifying, was another sensational incident of the day.

SAT WITH BOWED HEAD

During the long sessions of the court, Lizzie Halliday sat with bowed head, between two burly constables who keep watch and ward over her, seemingly insensible to her surroundings and indifferent to the proceedings She never once looked up, nor to the left or right. She was very pale, her face being almost as white as the handkerchief which she pressed nervously to her lips. The muscles of her jaws twitched convulsively and almost continually. Those who are familiar with the woman's ways say that this is a sign of anger, but with this possible exception, she gave no sign that she knew what was going on Even when a violent shower came up and the lightning flashed and the thunder roared in an awe inspiring way, she did not rouse from her stolidity.

THE FIRST WITNESS.

Mrs. Evaline S. Wright, of the town of Newburgh, a neighbor of the McQuillans, who lived, as she said, "two fields from the fated household," told of Mrs. Halliday's visit to the McQuillans. She called herself "Mrs. Smith," and drove a brown horse hitched to a buckboard wagon. Her first visit was on August 26th, and she engaged Mrs McQuillan at $2 a day to help her clean a large boarding house at Walden. A few days afterward, Wednesday, she came and took Mrs. McQuillan away with her.

The following Saturday night "Mrs. Smith" came and told Mr. McQuillan that his wife had fallen from a step ladder and hurt herself. She said that she had remained up with Mrs. McQuillan all the previous night and was tired out.

The old man said he would go and bring his wife home, but the visitor quickly said that the doctor would would not allow it, and that the daughter had better go instead to care for the mother. The daughter left with the woman, and that was the last seen of her alive.

The dress, rings, watch, hat and cloak of Sarah J. McQuillan were given to the witness to identify, and as she gazed at them she was overcome and wept.

HOW THEY WERE LURED AWAY.

The next important witness was Thomas McQuillan, the husband and father of the women who were killed. He told the story of the visit of Mrs Halliday, who called herself "Mrs. Smith," of her coming to the house and taking away his poor wife and girl, in a voice of infinite sadness, which drew tears from the spectators. When the clothing of the daughter was handed him for identification, the scene was a most painful one. He made a hard fight to restrain his tears, but could not.

In a heartbroken voice he muttered: That is the skirt my poor girl wore away. She had on that belt the last time I ever saw her. She wore her rings—those rings—and her watch when she bade me goodbye."

A photograph of the daughter, taken after the post mortem examination, was shown, but he did not recognize it at first. As he studied the picture through his blinding tears, he exclaimed: "That looks like my girl's brow; yes, that looks something like her."

As the witness, with his gray hair and bent shoulders, passed from the court room every eye was turned sympathically toward him. As he passed the rail where on the opposite side sat the prisoner, Sheriff Beecher stepped between them, as if he feared McQuillan might attack the woman.

SEARCHING FOR PAUL HALLIDAY.

Jeremiah Evans and Paul Halliday, Jr., a stepson of Lizzie, told of their visit to the Halliday house, on the morning of Sept. 5th. Paul Halliday had been missing for about a week. Constable Scott had found a carpet and a hunk of rope, stained as if with blood, in the house, also a bullet under the bed. Lizzie was angry at their visit and struck at Paul with a board. She said to Mr. Evans that Paul Halliday was working in Bloomingburgh and to young Paul that his father had bought a piece of property and was working on it.

FINDING THE BODIES IN THE BARN.

Justice of the Peace Abram Thayer told of his visit to the Halliday house with Constable Scott, Canfield and Paul Halliday. They went to the barn and moved a lot of hay. He raked it aside with a stick and unearthed the head of a young woman. He turned it over to see the face None of those in the searching party recognized it. Then they discovered the head of the elder woman. A cotton cloth was securely wrapped around the head of the dead women and tied very tightly. The hands were placed as though for burial and tied together.

Lizzie Halliday was then arrested She was quite calm. The witness told her the bodies of the women had been found and she said that if anything wrong had been done she did not know anything about it.

At the time the witness made the announcement her face exhibited neither surprise nor fear, but she talked and acted strangely. She said there were potato bugs all over her, and she picked at her clothes Her face, however, had not changed any.

WHAT CANFIELD FOUND.

Cornelius Canfield, whose sister Addie is the wife of young Paul Canfield, was the next witness. His evidence was mainly corroborative. On one occasion, after the bodies were found, he spoke to Lizzie about it. She put her hands to her forehead, as if to shade her eyes, but she would not look at him or his companions straight in the eyes. He said that there was a "sneak look" about her eyes. In the kitchen he found a rubber with a white string around it, the string being stained with blood. He also found a heavy white cotton stockings, likewise stained.

WEARING THE MURDERED WOMEN'S RINGS

Addie Halliday, young Paul's wife, gave important testimony. She told about Lizzie Halliday's saying to her that the "old man,"—meaning the prisoner's husband,—had given her the rings which had already been identified as those worn by the dead women. She identified the rings as Prosecutor Hill handed them to her.

Mrs. Halliday likewise told Addie that the old man was going to get her a watch. Her evidence was that at all times Lizzie Halliday was self-possessed.

GETTING RID OF EVIDENCES OF HER CRIME.

Joseph H. Scott, the constable who arrested Mrs. Halliday, said that at the prisoner's request he escorted her to a closet He suspected that she intended to conceal something, and had the place searched.

John McHugh, a powerful man, who looks like Napoleon III., said he found in the closet referred to a revolver, two packages of cartridges, one of them being broken, and two rings. They were the very rings Addie Halliday had identified.

The revolver was produced. It had five chambers loaded. Other witnesses had already sworn that old Mr. Halliday never owned, to their knowledge, a revolver.

DR. BEAKES ON THE STAND.

Dr. George M. Beakes testified about the condition in which he found the bodies. There were three bullet wounds through the heart of Sarah McQuillan, all in a line, as though made with a continuous aim. These were the cause of death. He and other doctors believed she could not have been dead more than two days when the bodies were found.

EXAMINED BY ASYLUM DOCTORS.

Special to the DAILY ARGUS

MONTICELLO, N. Y., June 20.—At 9 o'clock, this morning, Dr. Talcott, of the Middletown State Hospital, and Dr. Allison, of the Matteawan Hospital, with Lawyer Carpenter and the ARGUS representative were taken into Lizzie Halliday's cell.

Dr. Allison held her pulse and announced 116 He made her cross her legs and then hit the upper leg at the knee with his hand. The foot flew up and it was thus proven that there was no paralysis

The physician also took her by the heel and extending the leg pushed the toe sharply toward her head. She did not seem to mind it much, but the physician's object was gained by the little pain she exhibited

Dr. Talcott then took her pulse and reported 111 He caused Lizzie to extend her tongue. She trembled terribly. He grasped her eyelid and looked deep into the eye as she rolled the ball up or down.

During the examination Lizzie chattered constantly. She told Dr. Talcott he was the Holy Ghost from Adamsville and declined to recognize Dr. Allison, under whose charge she was at Matteawan.

She was apparently making every effort to impress the physicians with her insanity.

TO DAY'S PROCEEDINGS.

Special to the DAILY ARGUS.

MONTICELLO, June 20.—A magnificent day is this, the third one of the trial of Mrs. Halldiday. Promptly at 9.30 a. m., Court assembled and the examination of witnesses began.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

The prisoner when brought into court, maintained the same attitude as she had on the previous days, her hands on her chin, and continually munching her jaws, more like a chipmunk than anything else and apparently taking as little interest, as a chipmunk would have taken in the proceedings.

Just as she took her seat she uttered a moan, the first sound from her since her trial began.

SQUIRE THAYER AND DR. BEAKES RECALLED.

Squire Abram Thayer was recalled by the prosecution, simply for the purpose of identifying the revolver and cartridges found in the water closet at his residence. The question of identification of these was not raised by the defense.

Dr. Beakes was then recalled to give some detailed information as to the weight, build, etc., of the McQuillan woman.

Dr. Charles W. Piper then testified as to the autopsy made after the murder, corroborating largely the testimony of Dr. Beake's as to the bullet wounds, bruised condition of the bodies, etc. He brought out an additional fact that the girl was also shot in the left wrist.

MR. CARPENTER OBJECTS.

The counsel for the defense made a general objection to all this rehash of evidence, as unnecessary, the facts being generally admitted. Mr. Carpenter then tried to get in some evidence regarding the finding of Paul Halliday's body, but without success.

PAUL HALLIDAY HAD A REVOLVER.

John F. Bennett, of Bloomingburgh, was then called. He testified to a visit at his hotel of Paul Halliday, in July last, when Halliday had in his possession a revolver exactly similar to the one found at Justice Thayer's. Witness was again recalled, this time as an expert on cartridge balls, to show that the bullets found in the body and those taken from the cartridges in the revolver were of the same size.

WHAT BECAME OF MRS. HALLIDAY'S MONEY.

Joseph Roesch, ex-Coroner, was then called. He described the inquest and identified the bullets, which were now admitted as evidence. He was asked if any money was turned over to him at Burlingham. He denied having received anything.

Mrs. Carrie Scott, wife of Constable Scott, then took the stand. She told about the examination of Mrs. Halliday's person, that she found on her $20. Sixteen dollars were in the left stocking—six one and two five dollar bills. There were $3 15 in silver in her right stocking, and eighty-five cents in her pocketbook. This money she turned over to her husband.

Mr. Scott then told how Mrs. Halliday was not well. Mr. Carpenter brought out the important fact that Mrs. Halliday was not cleanly and did not take the usual precautions taken by women. This is part of the defense to account for the blood on the carpet.

THE M'QUILLANS HAD MONEY.

Mrs. Adeline E Wright, of Newburgh, re-called: It was shown by her that in August last Mrs and Miss McQuillan had considerable money with them, that they earned it working out and that the daughter made a practice of always having about $20 with her This is so far the most important evidence yet introduced as showing a motive for the murder.

Thomas McQuillan, recalled, stated that his wife and daughter always had some money. He did not know how much.

Constable Scott was then asked by one of the jurymen the distance of the outhouse from his house, which he said was one-eighth of a mile

The defense was opened by Mr. Carpenter. He said in brief, that his position, as counsel, was not sought, but he occupied it by order of the court; that since his assignment to the case, he he had not had one intelligable word from the defendant; that his defense would be insanity and the inability of prosecution to connect defendant with the crime.

He made an able explanation of the defense of insanity and the necessity of proving motive, which he claimed was entirely lacking.

MOTION TO DISCHARGE DENIED.

Mr. Carpenter in conclusion made a motion for the discharge of the prisoner on the ground of insufficient evidence. Motion denied.

ACTED LIKE AN INSANE PERSON IN NEWBURGH JAIL

Jas. H. Goodale was the first witness. He told how he had Lizzie in custody in Newburgh jail. First for three months and then again for two weeks. She was as wild as a hawk; was filthy in habits and had no regard for personal cleanliness. Always acted like an insane person; shouted and yelled much of the time and slept but little. Witness had had experience with the insane while in charge of the Orange County Insane Asylum. When he saw the prisoner in Monticello jail, in September, she wanted his watch, said it was pretty, and then began to talk about his clothes.

SHERIFF BEECHER'S TESTIMONY.

Sheriff Beecher testified that Mrs. Halliday became his prisoner, Sept. 8th. Tore her clothes and was filthy beyond description. This continued for two weeks. She refused to eat and was fed through a tube by doctors.

She was kept in a small cell for four weeks. Saw imaginary persons in her cell.

Attempted suicide by hanging, and by gashing herself with a piece of broken glass. Her hands were always wet and clammy.

After she became rational said Halliday deceived her into marrying her by claiming to own a large farm.

DR. TALCOTT ON THE STAND.

At 3:30 o'clock Dr. Talcott was called and is testifying to insanity of the prisoner in 1891.

A RETIRED BUSINESS WOMAN.

A Page From Her History.

The important experiences of others are interesting. The following is no exception: "I had been troubled with heart disease 25 years, much of that time very seriously. For five years I was treated by one physician continuously. I was in business, but obliged to retire on account of my health. A physician told my friends that I could not live a month. My feet and limbs were badly swollen, and I was indeed in a serious condition when a gentleman directed my attention to Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, and said that his sister, who had been afflicted with heart disease, had been cured by the remedy, and was again a strong, healthy woman. I purchased a bottle of the Heart Cure, and in less than an hour after taking the first dose I could feel a decided improvement in the circulation of my blood. When I had taken three doses I could move my ankles, something I had not done for months, and my limbs had been swollen so long that they seemed almost petrified. Before I had taken one bottle of the New Heart Cure the swelling had all gone down, and I was so much better that I did my own work. On my recommendation six others are taking this valuable remedy."—Mrs Morgan, [illegible] St., Chicago, Ill.

Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, a discovery of an eminent specialist in heart disease, is sold by all druggists on a positive guarantee, or sent by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, $1 per bottle, six bottles for $5, express prepaid. It is positively free from opiates or dangerous drugs.

BAVARIA'S MAD KING.

The Poor Fellow Has Been Crazy More Than Half His Life.

Should the Bavarian deputies indorse the action just taken by the upper house in deciding to place the insane King Otto under guardianship and transfer the crown to the madman's uncle, Prince Luitpold, regent and heir presumptive, this royal maniac will lose entirely the fictitious bauble of kingly authority which he has never been permitted to exercise. The story of the mad monarch's life reads like some strange tale of the middle ages.

Otto is now 46 years old and has been insane more than half of his life. He nominally succeeded to the throne June 13, 1886, when his brother, King Ludwig II—who had been deposed three days before because his insanity had become unendurable—committed suicide by drowning himself in the lake of Starnberg, in the park of Berg castle, to which he had been removed for safe keeping. Ludwig had been crazy for years upon music and palaces. King Otto never actually reigned. Prince Luitpold, his uncle, was appointed regent when King Ludwig was dethroned and has been the real ruler ever since then

Otto has long been confined in the castle of Fuerstenried, in the midst of a dense forest, not far from Munich. The most disagreeable task a Bavarian soldier has to perform is to do garrison duty there, the gloom of the surroundings being intensified by the dreadful appearance of the mad monarch. His hair is long and unkempt, and his bushy brown beard reaches below his waist. His eyes are usually fixed on empty space. He is always dressed in black broadcloth. At one time he fancied that his carpets were made of the finest glass, and that it was dangerous to tread on them. He would not be content until they were all taken up. Another hallucination was that the walls of his apartments were hung with newspapers. He would sit for hours facing a wall, reading aloud what he imagined he found in those newspapers. He smoked something like a hundred cigarettes a day at last accounts, using up a box of matches to light each one, taking childish enjoyment in the flash and crackle of the little bits of wood. Once it occurred to him that it would be amusing to shoot peasants, and he sat at a window all day long with a gun, watching like a hunter for his game. His attendants would load the gun with peas instead of buckshot, and a man in peasant's dress would pass within range occasionally. The king would shoot, the man would drop, and the apparently lifeless body would be removed by guards

CONGRESSMAN CONN, PUBLISHER.

An Interesting Sketch of the Man Who Has Bought a Washington Daily.

Representative Conn of Elkhart Ind., has purchased the Washington Times, a paper that was started here a few months ago by members of the Typographical union, but has made very little headway. After being assessed $5 or $10 every week for several months to make up deficiencies the stockholders got weary of their enterprise, and at their last meeting decided to sell out, whereupon Mr Conn, who is a millionaire and already owns several newspapers in northern Indiana, agreed to take the burden off their hands, pay an appraised price for the plant and settle all the debts of the concern.

Mr Conn is a unique and eccentric character, and his history is a romance. A few years ago he had a bench in the corner of a jewelry store in Elkhart, where he mended watches, clocks and musical instruments. One day while repairing a tube an idea occurred to him that was worth several million dollars and resulted in the invention of a rubber mouthpiece for musical wind instruments, which was patented and immediately adopted all over the world. This lucky little hit made Mr Conn's fortune. At Elkhart he established one of the largest factories in the world for the manufacture of brass and silver musical instruments, which is run on the co-operative plan, and the profits are divided between himself and his employees. He has been mayor of the town several times and can come to congress from that district as long as he likes. He believes in organized labor and stands half way between the Democratic and Populist parties. He is against the administration, particularly its silver policy, and his object in buying the paper is to establish here an organ to express the sentiments of those who believe in silver money. It is said, too, that he intends to make a very lively paper, something in the sensational line, which will be a new thing in Washington.—Washington Letter

Light on the Ways of Nature.

This is the season of the year when the festive small boy ties the June bug with a thread around the hind leg and lets him buzz.

There is nothing so annoying to a dog as the buzzing of a June bug, and the small boy knows it, and his young heart is glad that it is so. Every time he finds a vagrant dog he pulls the June bug out of a miscellaneous array of articles in his trousers pocket and puts him to buzzing around the dog's ears.

The dog immediately gets down to business on his haunches and furiously scratches fleas from behind his ears.

People who pass the dog and the boy get [illegible] on them, and for that reason flee [illegible] along, nip and tuck, with the [illegible] of the musical June bug.—[illegible] Texas Union.

"ADAMANT" WALL PLASTER!

The New, Cheap Substitute for Common Plaster.

It is very hard and very adhesive; it does away with the warping and shrinkage of doors and casings, and the building is not saturated with water, as it necessarily must be when common plaster is used; it costs originally but little more than lime plaster, and in the end its superior qualities make it immeasurably cheaper; it saves waiting several weeks or months for the buildings to dry out; it does not crack or fall off, even in the case of leakage; it is applied easily by any good plasterer; it is the only material with which repairing can be done neatly and "to stay."

A GREAT DRAWBACK.

Herr Dowe's Wonderful Coat Not Only Bullet Proof, but Airtight.

After a series of thorough tests in Germany and London it has been demonstrated that Herr Dowe's coat cannot be penetrated by bullets. The impenetrable quality of the stuff is seen in the fact that the German rifle, which can send a bullet at a distance of 100 yards through a thick steel plate, strikes harmlessly against the new coat of mail, which is described as "a wire netting incased in a cementlike mass." So in spite of much misgiving and considerable ridicule of his invention "the little tailor of Mannheim" is on his way to fame and fortune.

There is, however, one great drawback to the success of this invention, which puts its use by soldiers in the field practically out of the question. The coat, which weighs not less than six pounds, is as impervious to air as it is to bullets, and in a great battle more men would be stifled to death or rendered unfit for action by the wearing of such an apparatus over their breasts than could be saved by it. On going into action the first impulse of the soldier would be to strip off Dowe's coat and take the chance of a bullet through the breast in preference to suffocation. Highly desirable as it is that the terrible casualties of the battlefield should be lessened as much as possible, the practical utility of this novel armor is extremely doubtful. This, too, seems to be the conclusion of the German military authorities.

On the other hand, it is conceded that Herr Dowe's invention will be of great value for the construction of light barracks, batteries, army tents and boats and for many other uses in defensive warfare. If it shall possess all the qualities that are claimed for it, the material may largely supplant steel armor for men-of-war. But there are physical laws which make Herr Dowe's invention of no value to man or horse on the field of battle. It is not improbable, however, that improvements may remove or greatly lessen the difficulty of using the stuff as defensive armor for the individual soldier. At any rate, Herr Dowe has invented a material which is impenetrable by bullets, and this cannot be said of steel plates nor of any other known material of defensive armor.—Philadelphia Record.

STRIKING A BARGAIN.

A Young Chicagoan Who Knew What He Was Talking About.

"What have you got there?" asked Mr Billus, encountering a boy at his front door as he stepped out for the purpose of starting down town

"Handbills," replied the boy "Goin to be a auction over here in the next street Household furnicher, carpets, kitchen utensils an bedclothes an various other kinds o' truck Attention of the women p'tic'larly invited."

Mr Billus' hair rose; also his gore

"You needn't leave any here," he said sharply, seizing the one that had been wrapped about the doorknob, crushing it in his hand and thrusting it into his coat pocket

"Got to leave one at every house," said the boy "Them's my orders"

"I tell you I don't want any of them left here. Do you understand that?"

"Yes, sir."

"Well, get down from here and go along"

"I'll get down" grumbled the boy, proceeding reluctantly down the steps, "but I won't go along I'll wait round here till you're out o' sight, and I'll come back and scatter these bills all over your yard"

"I'll just stay here and see if you do, you impudent little"——

"That's all right I'll be hangin round not fur off. I'm paid by the week, and my time's cheaper'n yourn I ain't in no hurry. Besides," expostulated the lad, "it wouldn't be honest fur me to slight my work. I'm hired to leave these bills at every house, an I'm goin to do it, by jocks!"

Mr Billus reflected He had got the worst of the argument thus far.

"Bub," he said, "let's compromise I have special reasons for not wanting any of these handbills left at my house, and if this will be an inducement for you not to leave any"—here he drew a silver dollar from his pocket—"I'll give it to you as a reward and in recognition of your sterling honesty"

"Now ye're talkin business," replied the incorruptible youth, pocketing the coin. "I'll skip the whole block"

And he wiped his nose on his coat sleeve and ran down the street —Chicago Tribune.

SHOTS HERE AND THERE

AN "ARGUS" MAN OFF DUTY AIMS AT SEVERAL SUBJECTS.

Hard to Kill Children, Sometimes—An Anti-Tobacco Yarn—Sweet Girl Graduates in an Angry Mood—Nahum's Prophecy Concerning Electric Cars.

It's very hard, sometimes, to kill children. Saturday evening, Tillie Mazza, two years old, fell out of the fourth story window of a New York tenement house, turned several somersaults in her descent and finally landed on the head of a two months old baby that was asleep on the sidewalk. The child that fell was injured internally, and the child that was fallen on, was found to be suffering from concussion of the brain, but the indications were that in neither case were the injuries of a serious nature.

Little Harry Kemble, of Bristol, Pa., began to chew tobacco and smoke cigarettes at the tender age of seven years. For four years he is said to have eaten "excessive" quantities of tobacco, and to have smoked all the cigarettes that he could beg, buy or steal, and when, a few days ago, he was taken sick and died in a few hours, the doctor comforted his parents by telling them that tobacco killed him. To any one not prejudiced for or against tobacco, it would seem that it had taken the tobacco an unconscionably long time to get in its work, but perhaps the boy was a tough subject, and perhaps he had to eat and smoke very poor tobacco.

The relations between the sweet girl graduates of the Paterson High School and Dr. Reinhart, Superintendent of the Paterson schools, are very strained and there is no sweetness noticeable about the graduates when they scowl, stamp their pretty feet and declare that Dr. Reinhart is a "mean old thing." It seems that besides essays and recitations the girls of the graduating class had planned to add an interesting feature to the commencement exercises by producing an allegorical representation of nations, and to avoid the stiffness and formality of walking to their places on the stage, the girls had planned to take their places among the nations of the earth by executing a sort of fancy step. When Dr. Reinhart learned of this he sent word that there must be no dancing at the commencement exercises. The girl allegorists sent back word that there was to be no dancing and offered to let a committee of members of the school board and city clergymen say whether the fancy step entrance was or was not dancing. Dr. Reinhart thought he was enough of an expert to know dancing when he saw it and, refusing the proposition to submit the matter to arbitration, attended a rehearsal of the allegory, Monday morning, and saw the fancy s[illegible]teps, which he declared to be danc[illegible] of a very objectionable kind, wh[illegible]ch could not be permitted on a comm[illegible]encement stage. The girls haven[illegible]t yet decided whether they will do the [illegible]llegory at a walk, but they have dec[illegible]ided with one accord that Dr. Reinh[illegible]art is "horrid."

Rev. Davi[illegible] Evans, to whom I am indebted eve[illegible]y now and then for a subject for a Shot, asked me, the other day, if I k[illegible]new that the running of electric cars was foretold in the Bible by one of t[illegible]he minor prophets. Of course I answ[illegible]red him in the negative,—it's as m[illegible]ch as I can do to keep up a reason[illegible]ble degree of familiarity with the gr[illegible]eater prophets.—and he then said th[illegible]t in Nahum ii.4 I would find a very g[illegible]ood description of that "buzzing m[illegible]onster," an electric car. Here is the [illegible]erse:

"The chariots shall rag[illegible]e in the streets, they shall jostle ag[illegible]ainst each other in the broad ways; th[illegible]ey shall seem like torches, they sh[illegible]all run like the lightnings."

COURT PROCEEDINGS.

YESTERDAY'S AND TO-DAY'S PROCEEDINGS OF THE JUNE CIRCUIT.

A Live Stock Insurance Case, Involving Interesting Questions—No Cause of Action in the White-Rogers Case—Work of the Grand Jury.

At the afternoon session of court the case of Birch vs. Loyd was concluded. The vervict was no cause of action.

Judge Cullen, to-day, denied the motion made, yesterday, by Mr. McArthur for a change of venue in the case of Isaac Quackenbush against Ætna Live Stock Insurance Company. The question involved the right of a person who has a claim against the insurance company to sue in any county other than Warren county the resident county of the aforesaid insurance company. The insurance contract states that the company will only be liable to suit in Warren county. The defendant's attorneys say they will appeal from the court's decision and make a test case of this matter.

The case of James A. Van Voorhees vs. John Moore was next called. The defendant's attorney not being present, Mr. Vail appeared for him and an inquest was taken in the case. Judgment was rendered for $60.74. The claim is for services.

A LIVE STOCK INSURANCE CASE.

A jury was taken in the case of Isaac Quackenbush against the Ætna Live Stock Insurance Company, which, under the ruling of the court on the motion to change the place of the trial, was brought to trial at this term of court.

The company insured a horse belonging to a Mr. Gordon, of near Port Jervis. Mr. Gordon afterward assigned the claim to Mr. Quackenbush. The horse was insured for $112. John W. Lyon appeared for plaintiff and Cameron & McArthur for defendant. Emmet Gordon, the owner of the horse, was the first witness. He testified to insuring the horse in this company and to the fact that the horse died. He notified the company. No part of the claim has ever been paid. The company refused to pay because he lived in New Jersey.

Cross-examined:—Stated that he lived in New Jersey and still lived there and did during this transaction.

The attorney for the insurance company said he had no testimony to offer; that he rested his case on the question that a corporation doing business under the laws of New York had no right to do business in New Jersey. The court directed a verdict for plaintiff for $117 and granted a five per cent. allowance.

Court adjourned until Wednesday morning, at 9 o'clock.

STATE HOSPITAL DOCTORS AND OFFICERS EXAMINED.

In the case of Henrietta Tremper vs. The Supreme Lodge, K. of H., the defendant wished some information about the records, etc., which had been refused. He then subpœnaed almost all the physicians in the hospital and Trustees Stivers and Macardell, the Secretary and Treasurer of the institution. After some arguments the Court excused most of the doctors and the Trustees on the ground that they knew nothing of the case and that the necessary information could be obtained from Dr. Kinney.

WERE FALSE REPRESENTATIONS MADE.

The first case called, this morning, was Jefferson H. White and another vs. Wm. H. Rodgers. Chas. G. Dill and Wm. Vanamee for plaintiff and Geo. H. Decker for defendant.

This is a claim of a wholesale boot and shoe house in New York against Rodgers, who was a member of a firm of retail dealers in Middletown, N. Y., which made an assignment several years ago. The plaintiff claims that Rodgers, the defendant, misrepresented the financial condition of the firm and that, therefore, the goods were fraudulently obtained.

Jefferson H. White, one of the plaintiffs, testified that on October 1st, 1881, William H. Rodgers came to their establishment in New York, and said his firm had on hand a stock worth about $1,200; that their debts did not exceed $250. On these repesentations, Mr. White testified, that he shipped the goods ordered, and also filled a previous order, which they had been holding until they found out about the condition of the firm.

Frederick Kiefferdorf, a salesman, was called and testified just about as did his employer in regard to the statements made by Rodgers.

Mr. Vanamee then read the schedule of debts made out by Rodgers at the time of the assignment to show that at the time goods in question were sold, the defendants were indebted in the sum of several hundred dollars.

A. V. N. Powelson, referee in supplementary proceedings, was next called. He showed from his report in the case that the Rodgers purchased all their goods and and owed all their debts before they purchased goods of White, Post & Co.

The plaintiff rested and Mr. Decker opened for the defense.

The defense was that the goods were purchased in good faith. That the statements made to Mr. White in New York city were true. They offered to return the goods when they found they could not pay the indebtedness. William H. and David H. Rogers testified for the defence.

One of the interesting pieces of testimony brought out on this trial was that a Mr. Rogers was "too ill to work at the bench in the shoe store, and he went on the Middletown police force for his health." Mr. Decker summed up for the defendant, and Mr. Vanamee for plaintiff. The jury retired after a charge by the Court.

The jury rendered a verdict of no cause of action.

The case of Conkling vs. Elston was next called.

WORK OF THE GRAND JURY.

The Grand Jury, it is said, failed to find a true bill against T. D. Millspaugh, of Montgomery, for unlawfully selling liquor. They are considering, to-day, whether or not to indict a Port Jervis man for running a poker room.

APPLIED VICARIOUSLY.

A Lovesick Young Englishman Procures a Prescription From Gypsies.

Thomas Barnes, a young man described as holding a good position in a suburb of London, has been paying court to Miss Frances Mitchell. Love did not agree with him. He got thin and could not sleep nights. Instead of consulting a doctor, Barnes went to the gypsies, from whom he obtained a prescription. Then he invited Miss Mitchell to take a walk in the gloaming. Arriving at a secluded spot, he pricked the astonished young woman several times in the arm, smote her a violent blow in the face and fled. The prescription, it seemed, was to be used vicariously upon Miss Mitchell, who had her eccentric lover taken to jail.

Barnes informed the police magistrate that the gypsies told him that it was necessary to bruise the skin and draw blood from the lady of his choice, both of which he did effectively. The magistrate was inclined to give Barnes a taste of hard labor; but, yielding to the entreaties of Miss Mitchell, whose love was not estranged by the eccentricity of the young idiot, he was merely bound over to keep the peace.—New York Sun's London Letter.

Don't Like the Sample.

British naval experts, on the whole, are not particularly enthusiastic as to the merits of the United States cruiser Chicago. It is admitted that the crew are very smart, but they are too juvenile looking altogether to please the English eye. The vessel looks well, but being old, as warships go, she lacks many improvements which are to be found on the later built ships. One calmly superior critic declares that the Chicago's chief merit consists in roominess and general seaworthiness, and he kindly adds that "as the nucleus of a navy this vessel is quite worthy of respect."—London Letter.

Borrowed a House.

A unique case of borrowing is reported from Sherman Mills. A man whose home was destroyed by fire last winter has borrowed a house from one of his friends, which he will have hauled to his lot and will occupy as a dwelling this summer, returning it in the fall.—Kennebec Journal.
